

CHAMBER COMMERCE

BOARD OF DIRECTORS PLAN FOR ANNUAL MEETING FEBRUARY 12

A quietly enthusiastic and efficient meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors was held last evening in their comfortable hall.

That it was an unusually interesting meeting is proved by the fact that it did not adjourn until 9:30. For two hours numerous plans and propositions were harmoniously discussed—all having in view the betterment of Glendale.

President Cowan stated that no meeting of the Chamber of Commerce had been held since the special call to appoint the committee who provided the prize-winning float for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. That unique achievement made Glendale delightfully known to many thousands of witnesses from all over the world, besides being a noticeable feature in the characteristic literature circulated world-wide by Pasadena. That beautiful Red Cross representation "floated" Glendale into new prominence and publicity.

Since December 1st, the Local Exemption Board, a branch of the U. S. War Department, has been the guest of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. This fact advertises Glendale as it never was advertised before—not only through the Pacific Coast States, but all over the United States, Canada and Mexico. Such desirable publicity is likely to continue for an indefinite time to come.

George H. Bentley of Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Co., told about the new cannery being established in Glendale. It is expected to be running with some 200 employees, in time to help take care of the San Fernando Valley's always reliable apricot crop—not to mention all the other fruits and vegetables—ending in the fall with the big pumpkin crop. The capacity of that large plant will be about two carloads a day. But the San (Continued on Page 4)

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEETING

Tuesday evening the monthly business meeting of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lawrence on N. Jackson street.

A good number attended, thanks to the kindness of Edmond Stafford, who so generously uses his Ford for C. E. work.

The reports of committees showed a healthy working society. Some interesting plans were proposed for new work; a visit to the County Hospital and a "Drive over the top" for new members and participation in the meetings. Coming events to keep in mind are: C. E. Day in February. The big County Convention in Santa Monica, March 16, 17.

After the business meeting, guessing baby pictures of the members furnished amusement. Then came hot beans and brown bread, olives and candy.

LINCOLN'S LIFE

INTERESTING NEW FACTS ABOUT BELOVED MARTYRED PRESIDENT

Mrs. Ida Vose Woodberry, of New York, gave her celebrated lecture on Abraham Lincoln at the Congregational church on Tuesday evening before an attentive and appreciative audience.

Mrs. Woodberry gave a most interesting account of the genealogy of the Lincoln family, tracing the same back four centuries to the nobility of England and proving by records still in existence that Abraham Lincoln was a descendant of gentle folk who were quite prominent in their day and generation, some of whom were possessed of considerable means. A number of new and interesting facts regarding the life of our beloved Lincoln were brought to light by the speaker who has spent considerable time in research among the records of England and America in quest of information regarding the Lincoln family.

The speaker also touched on the negro question, the war and democracy, and proved by her remarks that she has made a study of these questions also.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Woodberry's address a rising vote of thanks was tendered her for the great intellectual treat it had been the audience's great fortune to enjoy.

Mrs. Woodberry will be in Los Angeles only two weeks and will deliver only one more lecture while here. This lecture will be given this evening (Thursday) in the First Congregational church of Los Angeles.

SHAKESPEARE SECTION

MEMBERS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS AT HOME OF CURATOR, MRS. CHAS. TEMPLE.

The home of Mrs. Charles Temple, curator of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, was the scene of a brilliant gathering Monday afternoon. The occasion marked the completion of the study of Romeo and Juliet undertaken last October. Members were privileged to invite guests to listen to the elaborate program provided and the attendance taxed the capacity of the spacious parlors. Mmes. A. M. Hunt, Jesse Joseph, Menzo Williams and E. D. Yard assisted Mrs. Temple in receiving and poured tea at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Temple opened the program by introducing Mrs. C. B. McClure, class instructor, who gave a synopsis of the play. Mrs. J. E. Lyon followed Mrs. McClure with a paper on the Capulets and Montagues, the respective families of Juliet and her lover. The character of Romeo was ably reviewed by Mrs. E. D. Yard, while the unfortunate Mercutio, who fell a sacrifice to Tybalt's resentment, was sympathetically handled by Mrs. W. E. Halsted. The attempt of Juliet's relatives to force a marriage between herself and Count Paris and the kind offices of Benvolio, friend and kinsman of Romeo, were recounted by Mrs. C. E. Norton; the garrulous Nurse was vividly pictured by Mrs. J. K. Hill and the good Friar Laurence, gatherer of "baleful weeds and precious juic'd flowers," who secretly marries the lovers, was introduced by Mrs. Edna Sawyer. An exceptionally fine portrayal of Juliet by Mrs. Theodore Pierce prefaced the reading of the balcony scene by Mrs. Gertrude Follansbee. A contrasting study was furnished by Mrs. Smith of Mrs. McClure's Los Angeles class, who gave the parting scene between Imogen and Posthumus in Cymbeline.

The program closed with two delightful vocal numbers by Mrs. Gladys Gibbs Sherman, as follows: "Take, O take, thy lips away," and "My soul shall sing," by Roy Lamont Smith. Mrs. Alma Stowell Gibbs furnished the piano accompaniment.

A Midsummer-Night's Dream will next claim the attention of the section.

HEALD BARN BURNS

At 5:35 this morning the fire department was called out to extinguish a blaze at 806 West Ninth street, a barn belonging to Mrs. B. Heald who was first advised of the fire by the crackling of the flames. When the fire engine arrived the building was a mass of flames and too far gone to be saved. The barn was used only for the storage of a small amount of chicken feed and for the housing of a Buick 6 belonging to two young men who came by auto overland from Chicago. Elmer Eye and Mr. Belmerberg, who have been spending the winter at 883 South Glendale avenue.

There seems little probability that the origin of the fire will be known. There was no hay in the structure and little beyond the shelter it afforded to tempt tramps to use it. The estimated worth of the building is $500 and the insurance upon it was but $250. There was no insurance on the automobile which its owners used early in the evening returning it to the barn about 8 p. m.

CHAMBERLAIN ANSWERS CHARGES

OREGON SENATOR DRAMATICALLY DEFENDS HIMSELF AGAINST PRESIDENT'S CRITICISM ON SENATE FLOOR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, January 24.—Senator Chamberlain of Oregon struck back dramatically on the Senate floor today at President Wilson's personal rebuke of his criticism of the government.

Senator Chamberlain declared he had seen 25 years of public service with his veracity and integrity unimpeached and unquestioned, and it was with some feeling of humiliation and sadness he rose to defend it when it was questioned, "not by an ordinary citizen or one of my colleagues but by the very distinguished gentleman who has the love and respect of the American people and who by sufferance holds the highest position in the land and I may say the highest position in the world."

Senator Chamberlain said: "Great policies are at issue between the president and me involving the wellbeing of the nation."

Not since the president's war declaration message has Washington so ripped with excitement. Six thousand persons tried to gain entrance to the galleries which have a capacity of 1000 only.

Senator Chamberlain "stood back" of his words as published in New York in criticism of the government.

"The president is resting in ignorance of the truth about the war government," he said, "while a terrible calamity faces not America alone but the whole world."

The president does not know the truth, he declared, and charged Secretary of War Baker with not telling the whole truth to the Senate Military committee.

"No man on God's green footstool can keep me from telling the truth according to the dictates of my conscience," he said. He demanded that America retire to "innocuous desuetude" men in the military establishment who fail to come up to the needs of the situation.

REVOLUTION IN VIENNA

WIRELESS FROM AUSTRIAN CAPITAL SAYS PROVISIONAL CABINET HAS BEEN NAMED BY REVOLUTIONISTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PETROGRAD, January 24.—A revolution in Vienna was announced in a wireless message received by the Bolsheviks at Smolny Institute, headquarters of the Trotsky-Lenine government, today.

The revolutionists have named a provisional cabinet, the message declared. The ministry of foreign affairs here made the message public. The names of the provisional ministers and other details, save the bare mention of the revolution, are not available.

This is the first intimation of a revolutionary movement in Austria-Hungary, although dispatches for a week have reported great social unrest. The people are reported as being incensed at the militarist, pro-annexationist attitude of the Teuton peace delegates at Brest-Litovsk.

General strikes have been common, with the populace crying for peace.

Dispatches from Copenhagen report that Austrian Socialist leaders are experiencing difficulty in controlling the extremists of their own party.

Two hundred Viennese are reported still striking. In Budapest street corner demonstrations for peace are rampant.

GERMANY PLAYING WITH FIRE

SOCIALIST LEADER DECLARES IN REICHSTAG THAT GERMANY'S SITUATION IS LIKE AUSTRIA'S

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
COPENHAGEN, January 24.—"The German government is playing with fire. Germany's situation is little different from Austria's," Philip Scheidemann, Socialist leader, warned the German authorities in a Reichstag speech today.

BAYKERRAN IN DISTRESS

WIRELESS S. O. S. CALLS OF AMERICAN STEAMER ARE PICKED UP BY VESSELS IN ATLANTIC

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
AN ATLANTIC PORT, January 24.—The steamship Baykerran wireless an S. O. S. call today that she had lost her life boats and was "in distress." The vessel's calls were picked up by several ships.

Censorship forbids giving the news of what steps were taken to aid her.

NAVY CANDY SUPPLY STOPPED

REPORT OF GROUND GLASS IN SAILORS' SWEETS LEADS TO PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE BY DEPARTMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, January 24.—Secretary Daniels today ordered the supply of candy for the navy stopped as a result of reports that ground glass had been found in the output of two firms who were serving the sailors.

The department of justice is investigating. Nothing alarming has yet been revealed.

NO MOBILIZATION CALL

OPENINGS FOR ENLISTMENT IN SPECIAL CLASSES OF WORK THROUGH THE BOARD

Routine work was proceeding systematically at Exemption Board headquarters this morning where Messrs. Lanterman, Spencer, Muhleman, Church and Mrs. Jackson were all exceedingly busy. Mr. Lanterman stated that all Questionnaires are now classified except those which are held up for special purposes.

The final mailing of cards of notification or classifications made to registrants will take place as soon as a new supply of cards is received from the office of the Adjutant General, the Board's supply being entirely exhausted.

Mr. Lanterman also called attention to the fact that every man who undergoes the physical examination has the right at the time of his examination to ask for a re-examination by the Medical Advisory Board which meets daily at the County Hospital in Los Angeles. He simply has to sign his name on the back of the physical examination blank in the proper place and it will be forwarded to the Medical Advisory Board before which he will have to appear for another examination if he requests it.

Official advices which the Board has received state that no more men will be sent to American Lake until further orders are received. The information is also given that enlistment or induction into service through the Exemption Board can be secured in the following:

Twentieth Engineering Regiment for logging and saw mills;
Twenty-Fourth Engineering Regiment for Mills and Shops;
Twenty-Fifth Engineering Regiment for Construction;
Twenty-Seventh Engineering Regiment for mining;
Twenty-Eighth Engineering Regiment for Quarrying;
Thirtieth Engineering Regiment for Gas and Flame;

For all of these the pay runs from $33 per month for privates to $96 per month for master engineers in senior grade.

There are also openings in the 319th Engineers at Camp Fremont for men in almost every craft.

Volunteer induction is still being made for the Land Division, Signal Corps No. 1 at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas;

No. 2 Medical Department, Medical Officers' Training Camp, Fort Riley, Kansas;

No. 4 Infantry at Fort McDowell, California;

No. 7 Spruce Production Division, Aviation Section, Signal Corps, Vancouver Barracks, Vancouver, Washington.

The chairman stated that no men would be inducted into the military service except as specified above unless they present to their local boards proper orders from headquarters of an army department for their induction.

He also stated that the reason for the physical examination which is taking place is simply to secure the physical classification of the men; that no call is now in force for their mobilization. The Board has had no intimation of when such a call will be made and so, as the chairman explained, there is no reason for any registrant to give up his business in the expectation of immediate mobilization, no matter if he is found physically fit for service and is a Class 1 man.

NON-CORRODING SPARK PLUG

Butts, the "I have it" and "I can fix it man" of the Monarch Company of 421 S. Brand boulevard, has now on exhibition a new kind of spark plug—one that will not become gummed and of no good at just the time it should be very much alive. There is in his show window a very unique contrivance which demonstrates just how dependable this make of plug is.

REV. EDMONDS GOES EAST

Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the First Presbyterian church left Monday in company with W. J. Clendenin for Baltimore, Md. He expects to be absent about six weeks and will visit friends and relatives in Chicago, Peoria, Mendota and other points in Illinois on his return. It is expected that the change of scene and climate and the rest will greatly benefit him.

P. E. O. MEETING

Chapter L P.E.O. met at the home of Mrs. Warren Roberts Wednesday afternoon. After a brief business session the program was given on "Founders' Day." Mrs. J. G. Hunchberger reading a most instructive and interesting paper.

THE DAVIS FUNERAL

TAPS SOUND FOR YOUNG GLENDALE PATRIOT WHO DIED IN EASTERN CAMP

The funeral of Lawrence Davis, first of Glendale's volunteers to give his life in a military camp, which took place Wednesday afternoon, was more largely attended than any similar service which has occurred in this city in a long time. The sad circumstances of his death, the sympathy for members of his family, and the personal popularity of the boy made the community feel that it should pay more than a passing tribute of respect to the young patriot.

The Presbyterian church where services were held was crowded not only the main auditorium but also the gallery and Sunday School room. Fifty-four automobiles, all filled to capacity attended the casket when it left the church and at least fifty more preceded it to Forest Lawn Memorial Park where interment was made and where a military service conducted by Lieutenant D. W. Nicoles was held which terminated in a salute at the grave by eight soldiers from Fort MacArthur of Company 9, Coast Artillery, led by Donald Packer, and "Taps" beautifully sounded by Buglers Howard and Moore of Company 9, one at the grave and the other answering from a distance.

A special P. E. car conveyed students of the High School to the cemetery.

In addition to the soldier pall bearers from Camp Kearny and Fort MacArthur, seven Glendale boys served as honorary pall bears, viz. Walter Reach, Milton Brown, William Morse, I. S. Brown, Harry Glazier, Jamie Shea, and Hasty Bidwell.

About fifty members of Company 9 commanded by Lieutenant Nicoles were present from Fort MacArthur.

The floral offerings of both set pieces and informal designs were wonderful for their beauty and profusion, the shield given by the High School being especially beautiful. An auto truck was required to bear them to the cemetery.

In the service at the church Mrs. R. D. Jones, soprano, and Mrs. P. E. Maxwell, contralto, sang in duet, "Lead Kindly Light," and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," Miss Margaret Nichols furnishing the organ accompaniment.

In spite of the crowd and unusual conditions, Messrs. Scovern, Letton & Frey who had charge of the funeral managed so admirably that there was no confusion or delay.

Rev. B. D. Snudden, in the absence of Pastor Edmonds, conducted the service and spoke feelingly of the place held by Lawrence in the respect and affection of the community and of the stimulation to patriotic service which such a death inspired. He said in brief:

"It is with mingled feelings that I come to this hour. I regret that Mr. (Continued on Page 3)

EIGHTY YEARS OLD

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH DOES HONOR TO MRS. S. C. PORTER

After the lecture on Tuesday evening by Mrs. Ida Vose Woodberry, at the Congregational church a birthday surprise was given in honor of Mrs. S. C. Porter's 80th birthday. Mrs. Porter was escorted to the chair of honor by Mr. E. D. Yard, and Mrs. Geo. Adams in a most gracious manner made known to Mrs. Porter the object in so doing and at the same time presented her with a token of remembrance from the Ladies' Bible Class of which Mrs. Porter is a member.

Blake Franklin, on behalf of the church, next appeared with a large and beautiful birthday cake which he presented with words of cheer and congratulations and then came little Millicent Miner with a beautiful bouquet of flowers which were presented and received with happy smiles. The audience then joined in singing one verse of "Blest be the Tie that Binds" after which Mrs. Porter in a very sweet way, thanked those present for the remembrances and the many kind words of commendation.

Those present then came forward and offered congratulations after which refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Mrs. Porter is a charter member of the Congregational church and although she is 80 years of age, seldom misses a service. She is respected and beloved by all who know her and it is an inspiration to clasp her hand and have bestowed on you a sweet smile, accompanied by kindly words, such as can be given by one whose life is hid in Christ.

PROMPT IN PATRIOTISM

In no field of activity did patriotism more promptly turn energy to the service of the country on the outbreak of war, than in the public schools. American initiative and leadership were shown there as clearly as in any other department of our life. When governmental officials and committees, state and national, when Red Cross societies and similar organizations, began to go out to the schools to rouse them and to urge them and to direct them to get to work for war instruction and service, they found in most cases the school teachers had already good work started, and in many had something achieved.

A particular instance of this promptness may be cited from a report sent to me by Miss Ellen M. Bartlett, Supervisor of Home Economics, Elementary Schools of San Francisco. She says:

"It seemed to me that my teachers and I could best serve by doing our own particular little job in the most effective manner. To this end I have made my course of study adaptable, and my teachers have made every cooking lesson a lesson in food conservation.

"My teachers collected a mass of bulletins on food conservation and studied and experimented along the lines suggested.

"During the first six weeks of school the subject of canning and preserving held the center of the stage and the classes canned almost everything that can be canned, bringing the materials from home and taking back the finished product.

"All over the department the grade teachers are assigning compositions, arithmetic problems, topics, etc., based on conservation of food. In our thirty-one cooking laboratories we are planning food conservation exhibits. Two of these have already been given. The point that I consider particularly good about them is that they are school affairs and that the whole school took part in them."

From one example judge the whole. He that would have the credit of rousing California schools to the call of patriotism, must rise before the call comes; otherwise he will be pretty sure to find the school teacher awake, alert and busy.

EDUCATION AND NATIONAL MORALE

We have read much recently of the decline in morale of the Russian troops. They have ceased aggressive fighting, have given themselves over to fraternizing with the enemy, have resisted their officers and given many evidences of lack of discipline. All this goes to show the need for greater stress on moral teaching. A nation is as strong as its morals—neither more nor less. And morals are developed through education and training. The Russian autocracy that ruled Russia before March, 1917, neglected the education of the Russian people. The children of peasants and workmen were permitted to grow up in ignorance, subject only to the discipline of fear and dread. When the knout was abolished the great mass of peasants and workmen of Russia attained a freedom to which they were not accustomed. They had not learned the lessons of self-discipline, self-restraint and self-government. In consequence, the great masses of Russia are breaking apart, civil war is rife, and no one can predict the outcome. Lacking certain moral qualities and ideals which may be developed through education, they lack morale, and lacking morale, they are a prey to every incendiary and spy.

APPLICATIONS FOR INSURANCE BY FIGHTING MEN

Applications for war-risk insurance by men of the Army and Navy have nearly reached the $3,000,000,000 mark, and continue to come in at a rate of about $60,000,000 a day. The average amount applied for per man is $8,630, the average having increased steadily since the act went into effect, October 6.

For persons who joined the colors before October 15, 1917, the last day for applying for Government insurance is February 12, 1918. Intensive efforts are being made by commanding officers to have all their men take insurance before that date.

The maximum amount which may be taken by any man is $10,000.

LOWER REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO ARMY NURSE CORPS

Because of the great need for nurses for the Army Nurse Corps certain requirements have been waived for the period of the war emergency. Registered nurses are preferred, but registration may be waived.

Nurses between the ages of 21 and 45 will now be considered, as well as those who are graduated from hospitals of less than 100 beds. Under the temporary revision of rules they are not required to purchase new uniforms.

A nurse traveling under orders is given a first-class ticket, Pullman-car accommodations, and traveling expenses not to exceed $4.50 a day.

"SMILAGE" BOOKS TO BE ON SALE IN NEARLY EVERY CITY AND TOWN

"Smilage" books, containing coupons good for admission to theaters and entertainment tents at the Army camps, will be on sale in nearly every city and town in the country during the week beginning January 28.

The books, which come in two sizes, to sell at $1 and $5, are to be used as presents to men in the camps. The coupons which they contain are good for any theatrical event or entertainment staged under the direction of the War and Navy commission on training-camp activities.

WAR CREDITS GRANTED TO ALLIES BY UNITED STATES

War credits extended to foreign Governments since the United States entered the war total $4,236,400,000. Of this Great Britain received $2,045,000,000; France, $1,285,000,000; Italy, $500,000,000; Russia, $325,000,000; Belgium, $77,400,000; Serbia, $4,000,000.

SWEET POTATOES

MRS. HAZZARD DEMONSTRATES MANY PALATABLE PREPARATIONS OF TUBER

The ladies who gathered at the Glendale City Hall Tuesday morning for the lecture by Mrs. Jessica Hazzard on the Sweet Potato, its value and methods of preparation for table use, enjoyed a very interesting and profitable session as she had many recipes which were new and her demonstrations proved the points she was trying to enforce.

In addition to the sweet potato dishes she gave a valuable meat substitute of her own combination in which the leading ingredients were red kidney beans and pimientos. She advised the use of the pink or red bean instead of the white one as being richer and more attractive.

Sweet potatoes grown in Glendale were employed in the demonstrations and W. F. Tower, Chairman of the Vacant Lot Gardening Committee made a nice little talk on the culture of the sweet potato on the Glendale soil mentioning the names of several persons who are growing them successfully.

The next lecture by Mrs. Hazzard will be given Tuesday morning, January 29th in the City Hall from 10 to 12 m. at which time she will demonstrate on the uses of the banana.

In beginning her lecture Mrs. Hazzard called attention to the fact that the sweet potato is one of the edible members of the sweet potato family of which there are several varieties in the United States. The recipes given by her were:

Baked Sweet Potatoes

Wash the potatoes thoroughly, bake in a moderate oven till soft; serve immediately. Or, remove the potato from the shell and serve with a little cream and salt; re-heat in the oven.

Brown Sweet Potatoes

Into a shallow pan put two tablespoons of bacon fat or savory fat. Heat, then add two cups of sliced boiled sweet potato. Fry on top of the stove or cook in the oven. Salt to taste.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes

Boil sweet potatoes until they are slightly soft; cut into slices or use whole. Place in a shallow pan, sprinkle sugar over them; a little of the water in which the potatoes were boiled, a dash of cinnamon; bake in the oven until glazed. Baste often. A small piece of butter may be added for flavor.

Sweet Potatoes With Apples

Heat savory fat—bacon or ham fat—in a frying pan; add two parts of boiled sliced sweet potatoes to one part of sliced tart apples. Salt, cook until apples are done.

Boiled mashed sweet potato, seasoned with salt, a little cinnamon and lemon juice—formed into cakes—and friend in savory fat is good.

Sweet Potato Purée

Boil sweet potatoes until soft, drain thoroughly of the water; mash, season with salt, milk and a little fat. Beat until very light. May fold in the well-beaten white of an egg. Place in a well greased pan. Bake until brown. This is good served with tomato sauce.

Sweet Potato Pineapple

Boil and mash the sweet potato, season and beat until very light; add two tablespoonfuls of grated coconut; form into the shape of a pineapple on a shallow greased pan. "In to the Eyes" put a little fat. Bake until a light brown.

Sweet Potato Balls

Mash boiled sweet potato, season with salt and a grating of nutmeg. To one cup of the sweet potato, allow the yolk of an egg, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese. Form into small balls. Cook the balls in boiling salted water, or in soup stock.

Sweet Potato Waffles

One cup mashed sweet potato, worked through a sieve, 2 tablespoonfuls of flour, ¾ cup of milk, Yolk of one egg (well beaten), ¼ teaspoonful salt, 2 tablespoonfuls sugar, 2 tablespoonfuls fat, melted, Well beaten white of egg. Cook in well-greased, hot waffle iron.

Sweet potato pie is made as you would make pumpkin or squash pie, but use much less sweetening.

SALVAGE RETURNS

SPLENDID WORK BY SCHOOL CHILDREN REPORTED BY MAYBELLE DOUGLASS

Saturday, January 26, 1918, is salvage collection day east of Brand boulevard.

The Red Cross Shop is rapidly selling out. In two weeks it has taken in for the Red Cross $25 and could have had $50 just as well if it had had the material to sell. If you have any articles that you no longer need and are willing to donate we shall be glad to collect them and turn them over to Mrs. Parker to convert into money for our boys across the sea. She will receive anything from a mouse trap to a piano and will be certain to find a purchaser in either case.

The check for the papers Mr. Todd took into the city last week has come and it amounted to $58.07. We sold bottles, iron and rags to the junk man for $3.70 making a total of $61.77. Deducting expenses amounting to $3.85 we have the net proceeds of $57.92 which has been received by the Red Cross to help defeat the Kaiser.

The machines that collected for us last Saturday were those of Mrs. H. V. Brown, Mrs. H. A. Andrews, Miss Margaret Sharpe and Mr. Hartman.

Helping in the hall were Mrs. Florence Wintersgill, Miss Lorraine Mitchell, Mr. Noland, Miss Elizabeth Bullard and Mr. Philip Davis.

KEPT HIS WORD

"I thought you said you'd make me a good price?"

"So I did."

"But you have charged me more for this suit of clothes than I have ever paid before!"

"Well, you can't say I didn't make it a good price while I was at it."

The winter of 1916-17 was the most disastrous the range stockmen of the West have ever known. The lamb crop for the entire West was 15 to 20 per cent below the average, and the calf crop was considerably below normal.

Taxidermists are the only ones now permitted to stuff their animals.

WE SHOULD EMPHASIZE PATRIOTISM

There is need also for greater emphasis on the teaching of patriotism. In some cities of the nation we have recently found some young Philip Nolans, content to dwell in a free land enjoying its blessings and yet unwilling to show reverence for the flag of our country. They have come under the influence of false doctrines at home or on the streets. It is the business of the school to offset these unpatriotic influences. All children should be taught to revere the American flag; to arise and remain standing when the "Star-Spangled Banner" is played or sung; to appreciate the patriotic utterances of our statesmen, past and present; to do their part in the struggle in which the nation is engaged. American history and literature should be taught so as to inspire love of country. We need not teach jingoism but we should teach patriotism and appreciation of the institutions under which we live.

Oh, that selfishness! How much sorrow, misery and trouble indescribable it causes. The man who can rise above selfishness has won a great battle.

In religion, in schools, in politics, selfishness often destroys the best results obtainable.

RED CROSS NOTES

Fine work was done by the ladies of the Seventh Day Adventist Church Wednesday when twelve pajama suits were made for the Hospital Garment Department, a bed shirt and two caps and masks. It is no slight task to make one of these suits, and those manufactured yesterday were beautifully made.

Today is one of the regular sewing days at headquarters and Mrs. Ellis, the chairman, is hoping there will be a large attendance this afternoon. Ladies of the Woman's Organization of the Baptist church have asked for one of the free Wednesdays and will probably begin work in the near future.

In response to the big demand for yarn considerable has been distributed by Mrs. Carter, the chairman, to various auxiliaries of the Chapter, among others to the No. 1 Auxiliary which meets at the home of Mrs. B. H. Nichols on Adams street where twenty-five or thirty ladies gather to knit, also to the T. A. C. Auxiliary which meets with Mrs. Dan Campbell.

Mr. Hush, Chairman of Junior Red Cross organization on this coast, is expected to visit the Glendale Chapter this afternoon for conference in regard to school auxiliaries which are about to be organized.

KNITTING CHAIN PARTY

Mrs. V. E. Philp entertained one of the popular knitting chain parties Wednesday afternoon at her home 225 Orange street. The afternoon was spent in Red Cross work and light refreshments were served by the hostess. The guests were Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. H. R. Boyer, Mrs. E. A. Bode, Mrs. C. F. Parker, Mrs. Harriett Dow, Miss Jennie Cornwell, Miss Travis, Miss Dorothy Dow and Mrs. F. L. Church, each of whom contributed 25 cents to the Red Cross.

STUDEBAKER DEALERS' ASSOCIATION

Tuesday evening the Studebaker dealers to the number of thirty, met in Glendale as guests of the Packer & White Auto Company and enjoyed a banquet dinner at the C. & S. Cafeteria. The object of these meetings is to have in existence a local Studebaker Dealers' Association which will arrange to give Studebaker customers service wherever they are within the boundary of the territory of the dealers' association.

KNITTING CHAIN PARTY

Mrs. John Baum of 109 South Louise street, was hostess at a very pretty knitting chain party Wednesday afternoon. Her reception room was prettily decorated and centered with a table on which was a miniature hospital stretcher with two figures at either end dressed in the Red Cross nursing costume, guarded by two cannons. As the ladies arrived they deposited their quarters on the stretcher.

Little Dorothy Clark, dressed as a Red Cross nurse, assisted the hostess by attending the door and aiding her in serving refreshments. For entertainment Miss Vivian Nay of 125 South Louise street, a pupil of the Keller School, danced very beautifully the Pavlowa and Mazurka.

Refreshments of coffee and cake were served and the receipts for the Red Cross totaled $2.25. Guests were: Mesdames A. D. Smith, R. C. Lane, C. G. Farrow, Oliver Clark, E. Brownfield, Frank Nay, B. Schickler and Mrs. McKelvey.

The 16 cantonments built for the training of soldiers cost $134,000,000, with a net profit to contractors of 2.98 per cent.

DAVIS FUNERAL

Edmonds, pastor of this church and of this soldier boy was not able to occupy this position and I regret that I did not know the deceased.

"I am very conscious of the fact that this service is the first of many such scenes that may be enacted in this community before the war is over. The war which at first seemed so far away has stretched its hand across the ocean, across the continent and taken toll of this home. The darkness of the war's tragedy is at our very doors, and in the days before us we shall need the consciousness of the Divine presence.

"Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends. This young hero just as truly gave his life for mother, father, sisters, home and country as any of the valiant soldiers in France.

"I understand this soldier boy was a member of this First Presbyterian Church for a number of years and that he was always proud of his church. This morning I picked up a letter from one of our soldier boys. These were the closing words:

"So good night, and please say a prayer for me, not my safety on earth but my safety in Heaven."

"This was the cry of a robust red-blooded young hero, not a sentimental plea for Heaven but the desire that in the midst of camp life and warfare he might be kept clean and strong and able to maintain the integrity of his manhood.

"In the words of Abraham Lincoln, 'It is rather for us here to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us that from this honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which he gave the last full measure of devotion.'"

"AT HOME" TONIGHT

There will be an "At Home" and reception at the Glendale Presbyterian church this evening, for the eighteen new members received into church fellowship last Sabbath morning. 8 o'clock. All friends are cordially invited to come and welcome these new friends.

ARCHIE PARKER

Until warmer weather prevails the dancing classes of the Pearl Keller School will all be held in the cosy Pearl Keller Studio at the corner of Brand and Laurel street, the home of Mrs. Keller, instead of in Butler's Hall. This, it is believed, will be to the advantage of both pupils and their instructor.

LA CANADA

At the Farm Bureau meeting recently, H. S. Bissell of La Crescenta, was elected president of this district which carries with it the office of Director of the County; S. D. Percy of Sunland, was made Vice-President, while Wilbur Seright was elected Secretary and Treasurer.

C. B. Anderson and family left about the first of January and took up residence in Eagle Rock City on Central Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson made many warm friends during their short stay in La Canada and will be much missed for their many estimable qualities.

Harold Dale of Hermosa Beach, who has owned and still owns property here is about to leave Southern California and go east to manage a stock farm of his near Marietta, O.

Friends interested in Dr. Scott's having a self-starter for his machine made it possible for him to exchange his car for an Overland equipped with the desired starter.

Saturday evening January 26 will be the next Improvement Association meeting. R. E. Chadwick, a very interesting speaker from Los Angeles, will make an address. Good music has been obtained.

We have all heard of Mother Shipton's prophecy made in 1448. Here's a bit from it:

"Under water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep, shall talk,
In the air men shall be seen."
Whether the clothing couplet refers to the present war you shall decide: "Then shall the worse fight be done,
England and France shall be as one."

P.-T. A. meets Friday of next week as usual at 3 o'clock, at the schoolhouse. Mrs. Louise F. Best of Pasadena, will speak. Mrs. Best has been talking to audiences in Pasadena and surrounding towns.

The Red Cross returns thanks to those who have responded to the call for old cotton. More is needed. Be not weary in bringing it in.

The Benefit Entertainment was a great success financially, netting over $200. "Isn't that grand," as the girls say. The auditorium for once was filled to overflowing. The chicken sandwiches and the fragrant coffee were delicious. The program was in the nature of vaudeville. There were twelve numbers and each was a good one. Some things were thrilling, many amusing and some beautiful. The color effects used from time to time were quite lovely. All the talent was from home except the aid so ably extended by the Misses Vern Roberts, Virginia Durkee, Evangeline Ebemeister, Louise Green, Dorothy Davies and Ruth Carleson of the Associated Players of the Community Playhouse of Pasadena. The lovers of dancing enjoyed doing that in La Canada Valley Hall after the program was concluded.

The Junior Red Cross is in formation at the schools. There are about thirty anxious for one. Their active minds are surveying the idea in all its phases. The two bits for dues each one is desirous to earn himself. Now is the time to instill the virtues of bravery, patriotism, love of country, obedience to law, "standing behind" to help, not criticize those at the head of affairs in our country. The lessons they learn in this time of stress will be immeasurable. While the teachers are doing all in their power along these lines it is not possible they can do too much. So do your help—and you and you, that they may be encouraged to do more.

Sergeant Howard O. McMullin has been summoned to join "The Innumerable caravan." His resting place will be in the National Cemetery at Chickamauga. Mr. McMullin enlisted at San Francisco, went into camp at Vancouver, Wash., where he received several promotions and just prior to his death from pneumonia was sent to the officers' training camp in Georgia. La Canada claims him as a loyal son, true to his flag and his country. To his father and mother and family he will be a living beautiful memory. His parents Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McMullin of La Canada, his three sisters Mrs. Cora Franklin, Mrs. W. E. Van Degrift of Los Angeles, and Mrs. G. Edwin Alderson of Wagner, Calif., and a brother C. E. McMullin of San Francisco, survive him.

It is hoped that some thing may be planned to get Burr avenue paved. Although it seemed to be at the point of being done more than once something has blocked it. There are many residents on this street, using it daily, then too, it serves as a main connecting link between the heights above and the state highway.

Flintridge Bus Line has found it necessary to curtail the number of trips to Pasadena and return. One Saturdays and Sundays the number of trips is cut in two. Just five in the present schedule. After the 5:25 bus on the two days mentioned there is no other until 11:47.

Marion Lea is working in the auditor's office of a ship yard at San Pedro.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ashworth of Center street, entertained on Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ross of Ontario, and Mrs. Hewett of Los Angeles. The latter is a sister of Mrs. Ross and is a musician of talent.

Mr. and Mrs. Naylor have, we understand, purchased the Haggerty place on Haskell street for a country home. They are residents of Los Angeles where they have retained their home. They have one daughter.

Miss Katherine Hegeman formerly of La Canada, was married on Dec. 17 to Alfred R. Lehman of Van Nuys.

Miss M. Bentley of Commonwealth avenue, has sold the upper five of her ten acres to Mr. Nichols of the Knowles Furniture Co. at Pasadena. Mr. Nichols will soon build a home on his new purchase. Brenner, of Brenner and Wood of Pasadena, bought another four and a half acres of the same lady. Mr. Miller has been living on the latter purchase and has had charge of Miss Bentley's holdings.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Johnson attended Sunday service at the Baptist church on Fowler street, Los Angeles.

Fitch Jewett was among the navy boys ordered north to Goat Island last Saturday.

Mrs. Brigham, who has been in a seriously low nervous condition for so long a time is improving slowly.

The monthly missionary meeting was held at the parsonage Wednesday last. In addition to the reading of Miss MacKenzie's poetic and spiritual chapter on the "Ten Tying's," Dr. Katherine Scott gave stirring episodes from her life as medical worker among India's women at Madura. All women of the valley are cordially invited to these monthly meetings.

Dr. Scott's theme for Sabbath morning service is, "Our Completeness in Christ."

Matthew topics for Sunday evening study is as follows: 1 The claims of Jesus as to His works and words, and His person, in Ch. XI and XII. 2 The Gentile element in the first twelve chapters. 3 The progression of Matthew's thought. 4 The connection between Ch. XII and Ch. XIII. 5 Why did Jesus speak in parables? 6 How can Ch. XIII be recognized as a Matthew chapter? 7 Significance of each parable in the chapter. 8 and 9 What are the mysteries of the kingdom? 10 Why did Jesus withdraw?

UNDER THE CAMOUFLAGE

Intimate War Experiences and Observations of Lowell Mellett, (United Press Staff Correspondent) LONDON, Nov. 20. (By Mail).—Called on Col. House at Chesterfield House. The library in which affable secretary and son-in-law Gordon Auchincloss asked me to wait is the handsomest room I ever saw. The Manchester Guardian man has since told me the room was as Lord Chesterfield himself designed it and that the portraits forming a border about the four walls are original Rembrandts and Van Dycks. Fancy having your interior decorating done by those two gentlemen.

Held short, though solemn, converse with the Colonel on matters of grave import. He told me (deleted by the author.) I am at liberty to say also that our foremost Texas citizen was looking extremely well, not the least oppressed by the title given him in the London papers, "Special Ambassador of President Wilson to the Allied Countries."

One of those machine-tooled English servants about which one reads made the mistake of opening the door, without having been sent for. "Please go out," said the Colonel, without raising his voice or breaking the continuity of his conversation. The servant went out like a snuffed candle. It was as though the three words were three bullets singing past his ears.

As we departed the Associated Press reporter remarked:

"That door man is one of the shrewdest secret service men in Scotland Yard."

And I replied with that agility of humor which readers of this Diary will learn to admire:

"He's wasting his time here. Col. House will never tell him anything."

We passed out upon the very cobbled pave where, again according to the Manchester Guardian man, Dr. Samuel Johnson was kept cooling his fat heels by Lord Chesterfield until he got mad and went off to write his downright opinion of His Lordship.

Telephoned Mrs. Pankhurst, asking for an interview.

"What about?" she asked.

"Militantism versus National Service as a Means of Getting the Vote," I said.

"That's an old story," she responded.

"But some of our suffragists seem to have revived it."

"Now, don't you think you'll get me to say anything against your suffragists. They're fine women."

When I assured her I shared her view, that in fact I'd once or twice eaten a pie made by one of the self-same suffragists now reported to be decorating a Washington jail cell, she relented.

"Well, of course, over here we have found"—she began and talked at some length.

"That'd make a good interview," I urged.

"Well, aren't you getting it?" she returned.

I was. But experience in England having been that an interview is a thing to be approached through a series of formal letters, careful maneuvering, footwork and ring generalship, I couldn't believe it.

She didn't even say she must see the copy before it was cabled.

LONDON, Nov. 21. (By Mail).—Had our regular Wednesday session with Ambassador Page in his big pleasant room at the Embassy.

"Well, boys, I don't know what I can tell you," began the Ambassador in his customary genial way. Then he proceeded to demonstrate in his equally customary way that he knew right well what he couldn't tell us.

The Ambassador is the sort you wouldn't mind having for your own personal grandfather, but you'd hate to have your newspaper career depend on him. He has made newslessness a subject of private research.

When the weekly demonstration was complete to the satisfaction of all, we turned to the never ending topic of the censorship.

Last Saturday the U. S. destroyer sank a German submarine, which she had found fervently shelling a British merchantman. The episode had various thrilling side-lights and formed, we thought, just the sort of story to stir American blood. Censor killed it.

The Ambassador was very sympathetic. Agreed that the publication of the news might be a real service at home; that too much mystery about the doings of our fleet might have a bad effect; that it was unfortunate that most of the truthful colorful picture of the war could not be reflected in the newspapers, remarking that future historians might find themselves limited to the dry unlightening official reports.

rather bitter. "The upshot of the censorship policy," he declared, "is that most of the correspondents are writing humorous stuff. People at home are apt to get the impression that either this isn't a serious war or that we are a lot of ghouls who can't see anything but fun in the whole terrible business."

The Ambassador was sympathetic—genuinely, without question—but he didn't commit himself to the opinion that the censorship is entirely misguided.

Talked with Admiral Hall at the Admiralty. He was so enthusiastic over yesterday's big advance toward Cambrai that he couldn't get his mind on the Navy. They talk about the jealousy between the Navy and the Army, but the Admiral was so proud of the work of the tanks that he insisted on referring to their commander as, "The Admiral."

We tried our kick about the destroyer incident on him.

"Did you think of this?" he asked. We hadn't. "This" was a phase of anti-boat warfare so remote from the —'s fight that the connection between the two never would have occurred to anybody not responsible for the whole campaign. We had to agree that the story really shouldn't be told for a few days yet.

"What I can't understand," said the Admiral, "is why your sailors thought it necessary to save any German lives?"

"Isn't that the British practice?" someone asked.

"Yes," he answered with a grin. "but you shouldn't emulate our weaknesses."

MY ROWS AWRY

The hours I spent in sweater art
Are as a string of purls. I sigh
To count them over, every one apart,
My rows awry, my rows awry.

Each hour I purl, each purl take care
To drop no stitch lest I be stung
I count, yea count unto the end
And there a sleeve is hung.

Of memories that bless and burn
Of ravelling out at bitter loss
I drop a purl, yet strive at last to learn

To knit across, sweet art, to knit across.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Fernando Valley could supply a dozen larger canneries. Such enterprises stimulate production and develop the need for more canneries. They make for prosperity all along the line.

Vice President Charles L. Chandler said that there is awakened a new personal interest among many Glendaleans in the Chamber of Commerce, credited with numerous things that benefit Glendale. He moved that the annual meeting and election of directors be further postponed, to give ample time for all interested to learn about it—that such meeting be held Tuesday evening, February 12 and that not only all members, but also all contributors to the Chamber of Commerce be cordially invited to attend and vote at such meetings.

Mr. Chandler's motion was seconded by Treasurer Frank H. Vesper, President of the Bank of Glendale. It was unanimously carried.

At that meeting, J. Herbert Smith of Smith's Groceries, is expected to suggest a new plan for developing a wider personal interest in Glendale's Chamber of Commerce and for greater efficiency in its work.

Furthermore, at that general meeting, the Treasurer and the Secretary will give full reports. It will be shown in detail that numerous things have been done by the Chamber of Commerce in the year 1917, which greatly benefit Glendale.

It is expected that the seating capacity of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce hall will be taxed to the limit and that speeches will be made which will be worth hearing.

Take note of that interesting meeting, 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 12, the honored anniversary of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln—wise in war, wise in peace and wise in his treatment of his countrymen.

At the President's suggestion each Chamber of Commerce member and every contributor to its support, will be sent a personal invitation to attend that meeting—which will be shown to mean a great deal in Glendale's future progress and prosperity.

Note:—When the Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting adjourned last night, the Hon. Mattison B. Jones, Secretary of the Local Exemption Board, (also a life member of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce) was still busy. He was at the desk in the further end of the hall, working away on the big job of classifying the questionnaires.
